

Andy Marion: Albuquerque, New Mexico

Navajo

Jewelry

Andy Marion has been a silversmith since the age of 9 and won his first award when he was a teenager. He was taught by his father who is also a silversmith. Andy currently does both traditional and contemporary designs, focusing mostly on one-of-a-kind pieces. Andy cites working on bolo ties commissioned by Charlie Daniels and Kevin Costner as two of his greatest experiences.

Andy's awards include 1st Place - Jewelry at the Heard Museum, 1st Place - Jewelry at the Eight Northern Artist Craft Show, and Best of Show - Jewelry at the Sky Ute Artist Invitational.
