10th Annual 1830's Rendezvous & Spanish Colonial Market

All Day Fun for Families!

Music, Dancing, Storytelling, Indian regalia fashion show, mountain men black powder shoot and so much more!

September 17 & 18, 2011

10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Award-Winning Spanish Colonial Artists

Featuring a juried art show with Colorado and New Mexico's most celebrated Spanish Colonial Artists. Famous artists such as Charlie Carrillo, Margarito Mondragón, Jimmy Trujillo, Teresa Duran, and Gloria Cordova Lopez are just a few of the celebrated artists demonstrating and selling their jewelry, bultos, tin work and encrusted straw appliqué throughout the weekend.

Trappers & Traders

See the colorful Mountain Men and Women trappers and traders selling their wares including buckskin period dress, trade silver, and beaver skin hats. Discover what life was like in the 1830's through historical interpreters and traditional mountain man demonstrations such as the tomahawk throw, black powder shoot and primitive fire making.

Experience a Day in the Old West!

Festivities include Pat Carbone and his family band; Flamenco dancing by Fiesta Colorado, featuring Jeanette Trujillo-Lucero and flamenco guitarist Steve Mullins and renowned traditional Hispanic Folk violinist, Lorenzo Trujillo and the Southwest Musicians will play authentic music of the 1830's and the Fandangos.

Watch Sharon Guli of River Crossing perform Dressing a Lady of the Santa Fe Trail - Corset to Calico. Kris Swanson presents the Fur Trade Fashion Show highlighting clothing of the Native American tribes. Activities for families include historical storytellers, finger weaving and face painting. The public is welcome to enjoy art, dancing, music and food all weekend long. Concessions provided by The Fort Restaurant.
