

Christopher Hoskie, Santa Fe, New Mexico

Navajo Jewelry

Although he just started showing Christopher Hoskie, is not new to the jewelry business. Christopher learned his craft from his mother, Frances Begay and brothers, Erick Begay and Alden Hoskie when he was young but decided to pursue other ventures. He was a carpenter, a welder and a heavy equipment operator before he decided to go back into the family business. Christopher is excited to be a part of Tesoro's Indian Market & Powwow.
