

Frances Nells Begay, Winslow, Arizona

Navajo Jewelry

Frances Nells Begay has been making jewelry for 40 years. Frances sold her chip inlay and stone work bracelets, pendants, earrings, belt buckles and squash blossoms in Santa Fe in front of the museum for ten years. After that she moved to Boulder City Nevada to operate Begay Indian Jewelry store before her son took over the business in 2001. Currently she is self-employed and semi-retired.
